Read and answer the questions

The sun was just rising when Janet and her classmates turned up for the tree planting event. The area chief and the school head teacher had supplied the buckets, spades, hoes, manure and a variety of seedlings that they needed. As they started to dig, Janet realised the dark soil was still moist from the recent rain. They had already marked the spots where the seedlings would be planted when all the holes had been dug, they planted all the seedlings. They then spread some mulch around the seedlings. By the time the sun was up in the sky, they had finished their work. Janet and her classmates were really excited. They had made the environment greener.

Dear Wendy,

How are you? I hope you are doing fine. I am writing to inform you that I narrowly escaped an accident on my way to school. I learnt my lesson the hard way and now I know it takes all of us to prevent road accidents.

Please be careful as you move to and from school. I look forward to hear from you soon.

Your friend,

Liza
